Marakele Fights Back

ANTI-POACHING EFFORTS INTENSIFIED

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Thabazimbi – Set against the scenic backdrop of Limpopo's Waterberg region, Marakele National Park spans nearly 70,000 hectares and offers a unique Big Five wilderness experience — making it one of Thabazimbi's true natural gems.

Efforts to protect wildlife in the park have been stepped up, with management intensifying anti-poaching measures to safeguard the rhino population and combat environmental crime.

According to recent reports, the park has strengthened its security approach through increased ranger visibility, tighter access control and improved monitoring along vulnerable areas. These measures form part of a broader strategy to deter poaching and protect one of the region's most important conservation areas.

While poaching remains a national concern, it is understood that Marakele has experienced relatively lower incidents compared to other parts of the country — a sign that consistent enforcement and proactive interventions may be making a difference.

The efforts align with wider initiatives led by SANParks to combat wildlife crime and preserve South Africa's biodiversity. Across the country, anti-poaching strategies continue to evolve, with a stronger focus on visibility, intelligence and prevention.

For the Thabazimbi community, Marakele is more than just a protected area — it is a vital environmental and economic asset. The park supports tourism, creates opportunities and plays a key role in maintaining ecological balance in the region.

As pressure on wildlife persists, the message is clear: protecting Marakele's natural heritage is not only about conservation, but about securing a sustainable future for surrounding communities.

Head-on collision on R516 leaves two injured

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Thabazimbi – A late-night head-on collision on the R516 has once again highlighted the dangers of reckless driving and ignoring temporary traffic controls.

The incident occurred on Thursday, 19 March 2026 at approximately 21:30, just after the first stop-and-go point beyond the R511 T-junction, in the direction of Bela-Bela. The collision involved a bakkie and a Volkswagen Polo. Each vehicle had only one occupant – the drivers – and fortunately, no passengers were involved. Both drivers sustained minor injuries. One patient was transported to Mediclinic Thabazimbi, while the other was taken to Thabazimbi State Hospital for further medical attention.

Although the exact cause of the accident is still under investigation, it is suspected that reckless driving and failure to adhere to stop-and-go controls may have contributed to the crash. Emergency services responded swiftly to the scene, including State Ambulance Services, SAPS Thabazimbi, Thaba Fire and Rescue, Eagle Trauma Rescue, Thabazimbi Traffic, and P&K Towing and Recovery, ensuring that the situation was brought under control without further escalation. Motorists are urged to remain vigilant, especially at night, and to approach stop-and-go points with patience and caution.

If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

NEW KING JAMES VERSION (NKJV)

HAVE YOUR SAY

If you're single, would you date someone with children?

Modern relationships often come with added responsibilities and emotional considerations. Dating someone with children can mean stepping into a ready-made family, requiring patience, understanding and maturity. For some, it's a dealbreaker – while for others, it's a meaningful opportunity to build something deeper.

“Every situation is different, but if the connection is genuine and the person is truly worth it, then yes – I would be open to dating someone with children.”

Jo-Anne Tenover, Thabazimbi

“Yes, it can be very rewarding. Parents are often more mature, grounded and caring – and if you value family, it's a chance to be part of something meaningful.”

Ashley Papo, Thabazimbi

Would you trust someone again if you caught them lying to you?

Did you know?

ILLEGAL MINING'S HIDDEN COST... Illegal mining, often called "zama zama" activity in South Africa, is estimated to cost the country billions of rand each year in lost revenue, damaged infrastructure and safety risks. Many abandoned or disused mines become hotspots for these operations, where miners work in dangerous, unsupported tunnels without proper ventilation or safety equipment.

Beyond the economic impact, illegal mining is also linked to organised crime, environmental damage and violent turf wars. Authorities continue to clamp down on these activities, but the scale and complexity of the problem make it a persistent national challenge.
